Face Wrinkle Road Map

20s — Eye Wrinkles

Visible aging begins — skin cell degeneration leads to loss of elasticity

30s — Eye area + nasolabial folds

Wrinkles that started around the eye area spread around the mouth, adding pigmentation under the eyes and around the cheekbones.

40s — Eye area + nasolabial folds + neck (vertical)

Metabolism slows down, resulting in slower collagen production and thicker wrinkles.

5 Important Fact about Eyes

1. Eyes have different skin tissue

Skin around the eye area is 20~30% thinner than the rest of the face.

2. 20,000 movements per day

The muscles around the eyes are some of the most frequently moving, creating a higher tendency for more wrinkles.

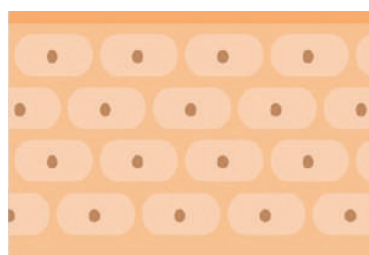

3. Dehydration = Wrinkles

Since the skin around the eye area is thinner, the area is more prone to dryness and dehydration, which leads to wrinkles forming around the eyes.

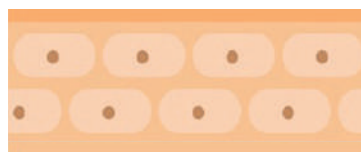

4. Eyes are under a lot of stress

Makeup, rubbing, harsh cleansers, and even facial expressions like squinting or frowning puts the eyes under a tremendous amount of stress. Repetitive stress on this delicate area can cause damage to the skin matrix, which leads to elasticity loss and wrinkle formation.
