How to use

STEP 1.

Dispense a couple pumps of P.I.T Cleansing Milk onto hands and spread evenly over dry skin.

TIP: Apply with a silicone brush for more precise application.

STEP 2.

When the formulation becomes transparent after 3 to 5 minutes, gently massage the skin to pick up dirt and impurities.

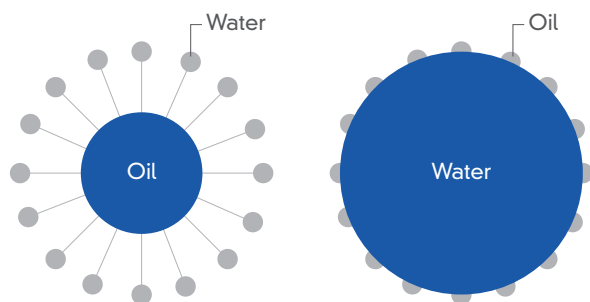

STEP 3.

Remove with disposable wipes or rinse with lukewarm water after about a minute.

Phase Inversion Technique

There are generally two types of dirt found on the skin — oil-based and water-based. As oil and water do not mix, oil-based dirt can only be removed via oil, which is why oil cleansers are used to remove makeup. Similarly, water-based impurities can only be removed with water.

P.I.T Cleansing Milk was developed using the Phase Inversion Technique (P.I.T), which changes a material from one state to another. Through this, the formula reacts to the skin's temperature, and as the creamy base turns into a translucent oil, we are able to emulsify both water and oil-based dirt and remove them together.
